Guest speaker for the evening was Norm Burmaster giving highlights of the restoration project of a B-17 called the Champaign Lady. This project is in progress in Urbana, Ohio at the old Grimes Field. Their goal is to have this aircraft flying to Germany in 2020. Norm provided in-depth information on how they salvaged four different B-17's to reconstruct one. Even with those efforts, many of the pieces parts must be hand made using the drawings they obtained from the archives from the Smithsonian Institute. Norm revealed many interesting facts about this B17 they are creating including sharing information about who posed for the nose art that will be on that plane. The presentation was very informative.

The evening ended with the raffle prizes. A very special Thanks to Lane Aviation for allowing us to use their facility.
